Coppright, 1820, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York Evening World.)

The wind-shy Regatta Committee and the skippers of the blown-glass racers Resolute and Shamrock, having checked a sailor-made breeze last Saturday, were rewarded yesterday by weather exactly suited to their capacities. There was absolutely no danger at any time of losing tophamper or of throwing spray over the well-polished shoes of the gallant

And because of this condition of affairs the race was called off at 5.04 o'clock, when the yachts were much more than five miles from the turn. In the first three meets between the single-stick yachts which have sailed for the America's Cup the desire for "a good breeze" which all concerned repeatedly expressed was entirely, sincere. The ships met in half gales and on two occasions there were races wherein the wind was above thirty knots an hour.

Genesta and Puritan, Valkyrle and Vigilant came to the light ship with $230,083,885 CUSTOMS sade spread and running gear as hard as nails, while the crew thrilled with the joy of the contest.

In these days our racers come to the line with their expressed desire for a "good breeze," modified by the underlying hope for a "wholesome" contest. In the first three Shamrock races the word "wholesome" was worn to a frazzle because of the alleged desire for ship-shape yachts. To-day we have at the meet the most fragile and freakish ships that ever contested for the oun that was won by a yacht which carried her erew across the "roaring fortles," a crew that never had a thought that
